

IELTS WRITING

IELTS 최신 기출 문제

Academic writing task 2

Heather Cho

IELTS WRITING*2017년 12월 9일 문제

Despite better access to education, a significant number of people cannot read or write. In what ways people disadvantaged without these skills? What could governments do about this problem?

IELTS WRITING

In what ways people disadvantaged without these skills?

1) Illiterates would not be able to understand current affairs without others' helps

- as they cannot read or write, it would be impossible for them to understand news or issues, and they have to rely on others if they want find out about the current issues.

IELTS WRITING

In what ways people disadvantaged without these skills?

2) Finding a job would be very difficult or impossible

- in modern society, reading or writing skills are vital to find a decent job. Also there are many highly educated people in job markets so they would lose opportunities for employment.

IELTS WRITING

In what ways people disadvantaged without these skills?

3) A limit or restraint on education

- if someone cannot read or write, they cannot receive education. As literacy is basic ability for learning, they would struggle a lot even though they continue attending schools.

IELTS WRITING

What could governments do about this problem?

1) Governments should impose policy to make sure all children in the country attend school regardless of their financial backgrounds or social status.

- It would be effective if they monitor their attendance continuously.

IELTS WRITING

What could governments do about this problem?

2) Authorities should provide free programmes for people who are illiterate in every town such as teaching basic language skills.

- It would be a good chance for people who cannot read or write to learn these skills, which will reduce the rate of illiteracy.

IELTS WRITING*2017년 12월 9일 문제 Sample answer*Introduction

Nowadays, receiving education is not difficult anymore. Although people can receive education easily, illiteracy rates in many countries still remain considerably high. There are several ways which people who cannot read or write can be disadvantaged, but there are some solutions which governments can introduce to alleviate this issue. (49 words)

IELTS WRITING*2017년 12월 9일 문제 Sample answer*Main body 1

On the one hand, there are some problems which people can face when they lack reading and writing skills. First of all, a limit or restraint on education can occur. As literacy is basic ability for learning, people who cannot read or write would struggle a lot since they would find it difficult to understand lessons.

IELTS WRITING*2017년 12월 9일 문제 Sample answer*Main body 1

Moreover, finding a job would be difficult, or impossible for them. In modern society, many people are highly educated, and having good reading and writing skills is vital to find a decent job. If people who are illiterate try to find a job, it would not be easy. (104 words)

IELTS WRITING*2017년 12월 9일 문제 Sample answer*Main body 2

Nevertheless, there are some measures which governments can do to improve the current situation. First and foremost, governments should impose policies to make sure all children in the country attend school regardless of their financial backgrounds or social status. It would be effective if they monitor their attendance continuously. Education for children would eventually lead more people to be literate.

IELTS WRITING*2017년 12월 9일 문제 Sample answer*Main body 2

In addition, authorities should provide free programmes for people who are illiterate in every town such as teaching basic language skills. It would be a good chance for people who cannot read or write to learn these skills, which will reduce the rate of illiteracy. (105 words)

IELTS WRITING*2017년 12월 9일 문제 Sample answer*Conclusion

In conclusion, although there are still many people who are illiterate, there are some ways to tackle the issue. Therefore, some actions must be taken by governments in order to increase the literacy rate of nations. (36 words)

Total: 294 words

IELTS WRITING

IELTS 최신 기출 문제

Thank you!

Heather Cho