Part 1 – Study time

- What time do you like to study?
 - Morning; around 9 or 10am
 - Afternoon; after midday
 - Evenings; late night, like after midnight

I prefer mornings. As I'm a morning person, I can concentrate a lot better in the mornings. So whenever I need to study, I normally start at around 9 am.

Part 1 – Study time

- Do you like to study alone or with your friends?

- Alone; I can concentrate better

I much prefer to study alone. I can't really concentrate when there's someone around me, so I normally find somewhere where I can stay alone then focus.

Part 2 sample answer

Well, one of my favourite buildings is 'The Shard' in London, England. I used to visit neighbouring towns to see that building, and took loads of pictures of it.

Part 2 sample answer

It's divided in different sections; there are some restaurants on first few floors, hotels and residential areas in the middle sections, and also an observatory at the top floors.

Part 2 sample answer

It's a 72-storey building, and it narrows down in size towards the top. As it's the tallest building in London, it actually stands out in the surrounding. Also it looks stunning when it's lightened up at night.

Part 2 sample answer

Well, I like this building because I love its observatory.
Like I said, at the top, a floor is used as an observatory and there, I can see the scenery of London. I love seeing view of cities, so whenever I go somewhere, I always go to observatories, but this one was the best. I used to spend lots of time there.

Also it looks really cool. I always went across the river Thames to see 'The Shard' as it looked fabulous. Especially at night, it looked really sparkly with lots of lights. I absolutely loved it. I wish I could go there again.

Part 3 – Buildings

- How do people in your country feel about old buildings?

It actually depends on the purposes of buildings. If it's a historically valuable building, people tend to preserve it and take some actions. But in Korea's case, when it comes to old residences, people want them to be redeveloped and constructed in modern style.

Part 3 – Buildings

- What aspect of culture do old buildings reflect?
 - Architecture style of the past
 - Lifestyles of people in the past

IELTS Speaking

Part 3 – Buildings

- What aspect of culture do old buildings reflect?

Probably architecture style of the past, I guess. They are surely different to ones in modern society so people can have a glance on how they were built. It also reflects life habits of people in the past. The buildings were built for different purposes which meets people's needs. So modern people can have a look at their lifestyle.
